HOUSTON—(BUSINESS WIRE)— Tombstone Technologies Inc. announced February 3, 2011 that it changed its name to Hunt Global Resources, Inc. and also changed their ticker symbol to (OTCBB: HGCO).

"Changing the company name and trading symbol clarifies our intentions to the marketplace of becoming a globally recognized provider of natural resources," said George Sharp, CEO of Hunt Global Resources, Inc. "Additional announcements will be made in the coming weeks to further position the company for success. We look forward to our continued progress toward providing products that will meet the growing market demand."

About Hunt Global Resources, Inc.:

Hunt Global Resources, Inc. (OTCBB: HGCO) is a natural resource company focusing on specialty sands as well as the production of cleaner burning industrial oil technologies and renewable energy. The Company's current holdings include the mining rights to 350 acres containing high-grade sand and gravel deposits. The site contains approximately 41 million tons of sand, with over 50% earmarked for frac sand. Additionally, the Company's holdings include a state-of-the-art 40 million gallon industrial biofuels manufacturing plant located near the Houston ship channel, uniquely positioned with proprietary technology for providing biofuel for the industrial boiler, maritime, heating oil and power generation sectors. The Company plans to utilize the plant's excess resources and capacity to support a frac sand resin coating operation.
